DR. SNAVELY

"President's Office. Come In." Those words printed on Dr. Snavely's door epitomize his years at Birmingham-Southern College. Always he could be relied upon to be properly presidential—a scholar and a gentleman. But not too formal,—a friend.

Dr. Snavely has been president of Birmingham-Southern College since 1921. At his inauguration, Warren G. Harding, then President of the United States, was the chief speaker. With Dr. Snavely as its head, Southern gained admission to the Association of American Universities, to the Southern Association, to the Association of American Colleges. In the years of his presidency, Student Activities Building, the M. Paul Phillips Library, Munger Memorial Hall, and Stockham Woman's Building became a part of this campus. Dr. Snavely gave to Southern the place which it holds today.

Birmingham-Southern is proud of its president, proud to see that he now belongs to the colleges of a nation, and proud that he therefore, still belongs to Birmingham-Southern.

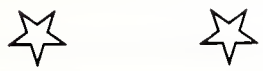

WYATT WALKER HALE

B.S., M.A., ED.D.

Dean Hale has had a busy and a trying year. In addition to his regular duties, he has had to assume added responsibilities as head of academic affairs of Birmingham-Southern. In spite of his heavy schedule, Dean Hale has taken his usual active interest in the college organizations with which he is connected, including Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, Beta Beta Beta, Kappa Phi Kappa, Theta Chi Delta, and Tau Kappa Alpha.

Birmingham-Southern's library was once small enough to fit into one room of Erskine Ramsay Hall. Today it is one of the finest collections of books of any college of like size. Through the gift of Mr. M. Paul Phillips, the present library was built in 1923 and ten years later the stacks at the rear of the building were added. A Carnegie grant for books, as well as gifts from friends of the college, has made the Birmingham-Southern Library more nearly complete—a place for study, a home for literature.

M. PAUL PHILLIPS LIBRARY

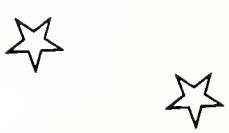

EOLINE WALLACE MOORE

B.A., M.A., PH.D.

It is hard for Birmingham-Southern students to think of Dean Moore without Stockham. A Sunday tea without her isn't any Sunday tea at all. But as charming as her office is, it is not big enough to hold her many activities. She is constantly busy with her education classes, her University Women, and the Altrusa Club. Still, she never misses meetings of Mortar Board, Alpha Lambda Delta and Kappa Delta Epsilon, and the student organizations are grateful for her presence. Into her office comes every sorority bid and the rushee for which it is intended. Pan-Hellenic Council and the Y.W.C.A. Cabinet call on her for advice. She is the Dean of Women.

STOCKHAM WOMAN'S BUILDING

ERSKINE RAMSAY HALL

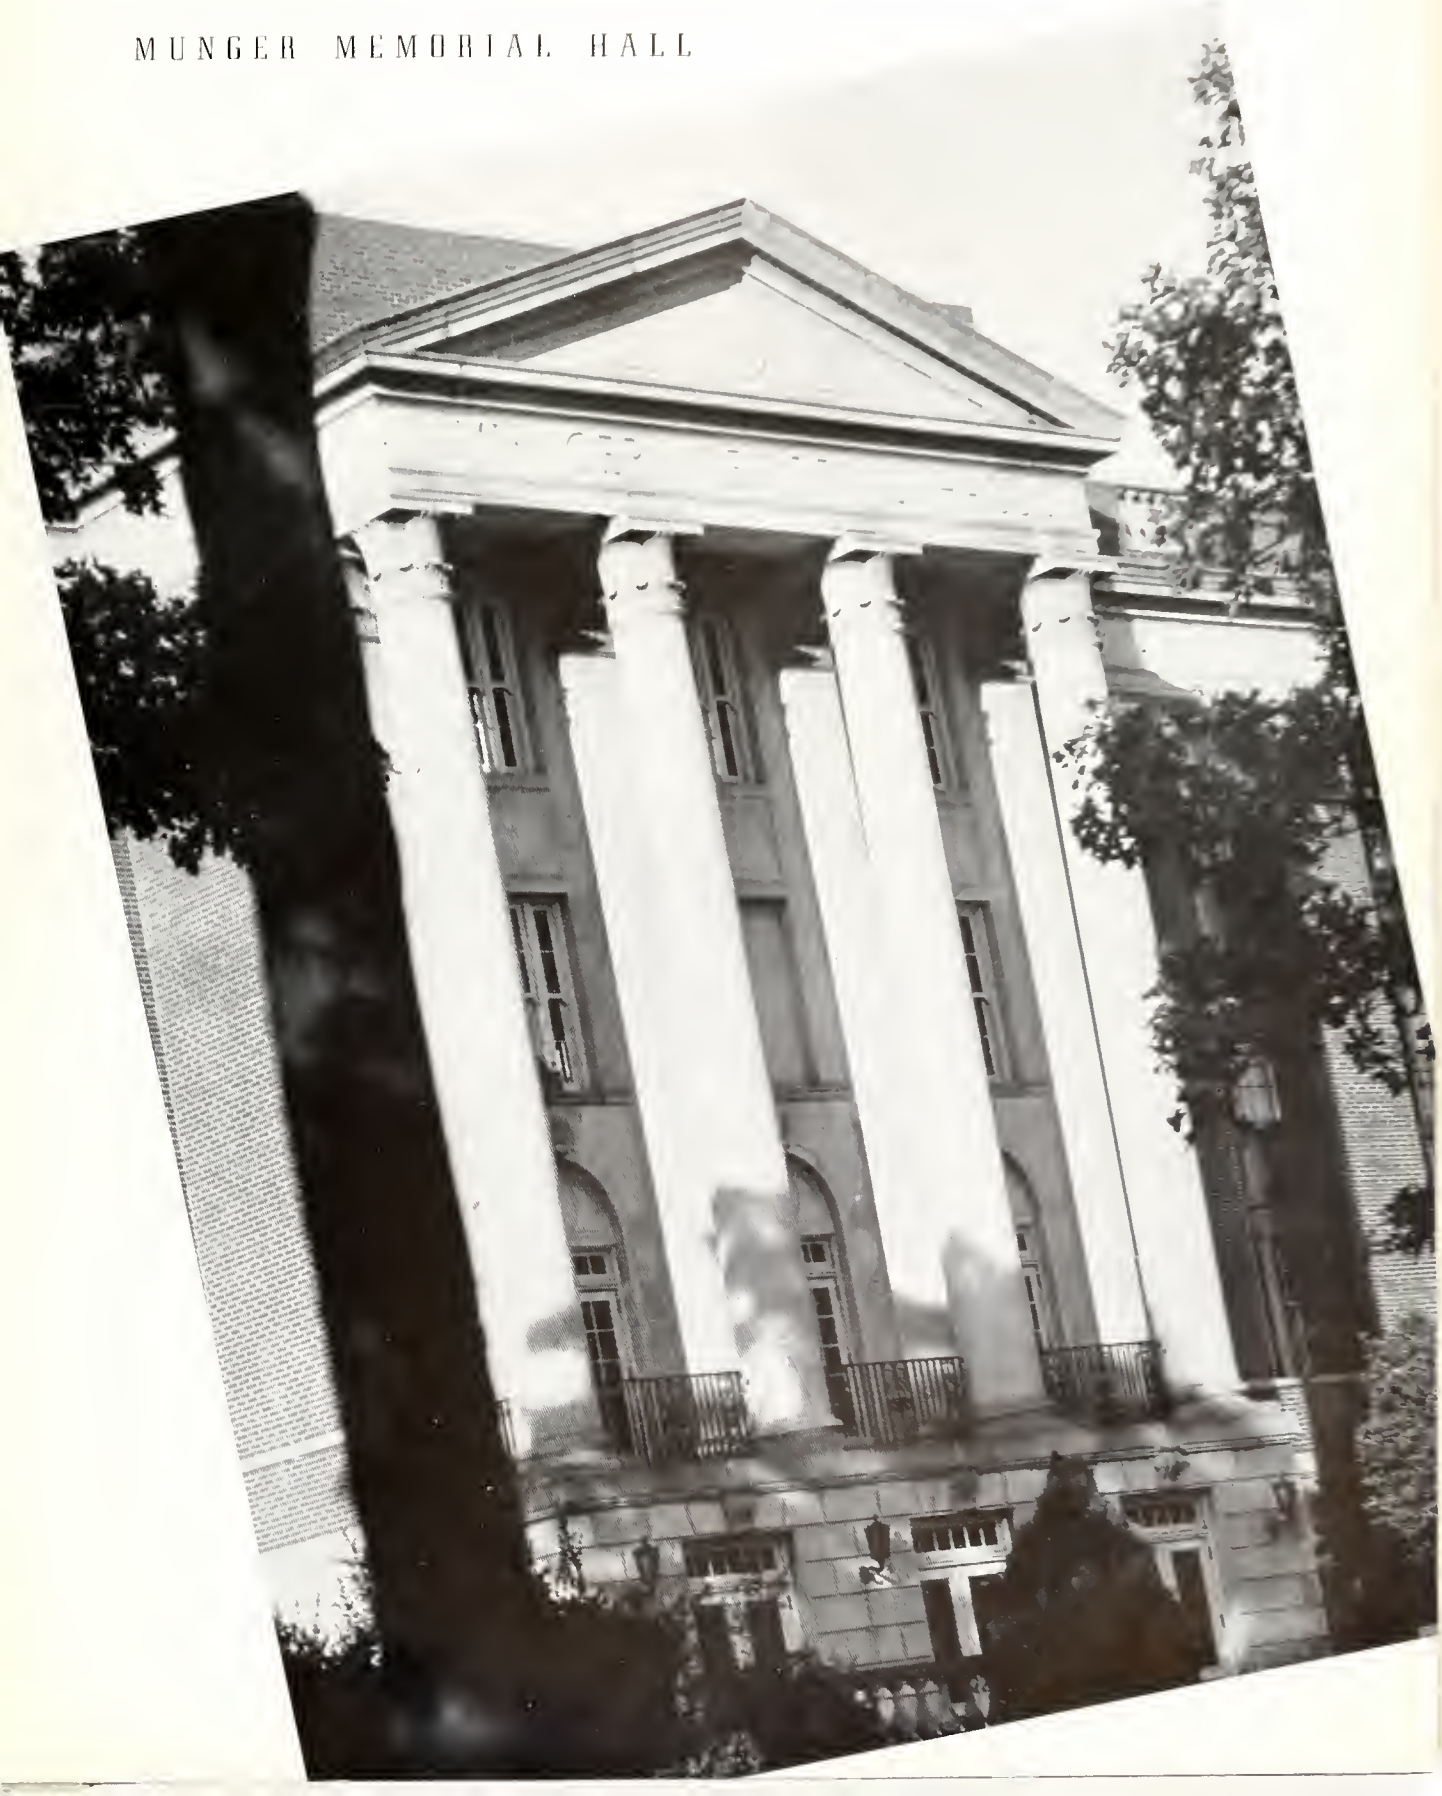

Once Science Hall with the smell of chemicals. Now Erskine Ramsay Hall,—still with a scientific atmosphere contributed by the biology, geology and physics departments, but bothered by a long procession of art students coming to read Shakespeare and learn to write.

Munger—Chapel speakers, monitors marking empty seats, Information Office with its buzzing switch-board, Beethoven's Fifth swelling the Faculty Trustee Room, four flights of stairs, steel chairs screeching against composition floors, lectures.

HILLTOP FROM THE AIR

The STUDENT SENATE

As the governing body of the students, the Student Senate is presided over by the president of the student body. It is a duty of the group to sit in judgment upon men students who have broken the laws of the college. It is an unpleasant task and one which the Senate handles quietly and well. Occasionally the Senate gets wrought up and does some constitution drafting. This year was void of such, but the Senators threw themselves a party at which they spent much money and from which they left early.

and CO-ED COUNCIL

Coed Council is supposedly the feminine parallel of Student Senate, but its president is not the president of the student body. The Council elects its own head from among its members—a vague inequality between men and women in the set-up but it probably doesn't matter. The Council has the same unpleasant duties as the Senate beside certain others more suited to feminine talents—such as teas and May Festivals.

THE 1938 La Revue has tried to be just a little different from other Birmingham - Southern yearbooks. For the first time the entire book was engraved and printed in Birmingham; for the first time the class section pictures were used only in the class section.

La Revue moved into the Gold and Black of-

and BLACK

The Gold and Black has been the student publication of Birmingham-Southern College for twenty years. This year, for the first time, the "G & B" changed from its customary Old English heading. It went modern. It also took an interest in campus affairs:

The Campus Newsreel, begun early in the year, was probably the most venturesome effort ever made by the paper's staff. Editor Martin Kruskopf and Business Manager Pierce Bruce, with Orville Lawson, put on a series of film editions, showing the activities of the students and faculty. With the help of Cameraman Lawson and Director Charles Barnes, the newsreel staff installed its own developing laboratory in Student Ac.

The policy of the paper seemed to be that of using its pages to get needed things accomplished on the campus. The Gold and Black started the drive which is about to become successful—that of furnishing the Student Activities Building so that it may become a student activities building. In spite of all these noble efforts, and because of Psi Psi Psi, the "G & B" had a hilarious year. Put out good papers. And accomplished things.

PAINT and

DIRECTOR

Mr. Burtt F. McKee of the Birmingham Little Theater. The Southern dramatics gained umph from Mr. McKee's extension class as well as from his direction on the two plays produced this year.

Paint and Patches has been more intensely dramatic this year than it has in the past four. Two plays produced at the Little Theatre were enough to rouse all sorts of enthusiasm in the numerous members. Lady Windemere's Fan was the first performance of the year, and started the Paint and Patchers to thinking in theatrical terms. Also in the direction of radio dramas. But the radio dramas weren't particularly permanent. After a momentary flash of histrionic temperament in the early rehearsals of the play, Genius Limited went on to opening night as calmly as could be expected.

Paint and Patches, after its years of Zeta domination, is doing better with the free lancers. It is a matter of interest to see how long the organization can continue to have every officer with a different Greek label.

LA REVUE

We Pay

TRIBUTE to

Mr. James Saxon Childers

—for his turkey-stalking, for his invigorating cruelty, and for the delightfully unacademic atmosphere of his classrooms.

Dr. Antony Constans

—for his pie-shaped smile, for his enthusiasm, and for his broad knowledge of everything good in music, art and literature.

Mr. J. Horace Coulliette

—for his silence, for his consistent kindness, and for his help on the photographic work of this annual.

LOWER DIVISION

The year 1938 at Southern has been an unusual one—a year of uncertainty and a year of sudden growth. The college was without a president. Student body and faculty seemed to sense that they had to balance that loss. The Gold and Black sponsored the Campus Newsreel —the only one in the United States. A few students, enthusiastic, supplied a band and pep squad for football games. Mr. James Saxon Childers met with students who worked on the lives of the poets with no idea of receiving academic credit. The efforts of Dr. Guy E. Snavely and of the faculty brought a Phi Beta Kappa chapter to Birmingham-Southern. Student organizations took up the idea of the common room in Student Ac. Vigorously they pushed it forward—lectures, a Spring Swing Show, booths at May Day,—anything to get the room which will give Southern more atmosphere of college.

A THRILLING 21-20 victory over a traditional grid rival gave Birmingham-Southern Golden Platoon the championship of the Dixie Conference is as spectacular a clash as Legion Field has ever played host to.

The record of the Dixie Conference champions does not rival the imposing success gained by the last title array that swooped down from the Hilltop, the undefeated, untied team of 1934. Victims of this year's smooth-working Panther team were Loyola, Mercer, Millsaps, Chattanooga, Spring Hill, and Howard. Only the strong outfits from Auburn and Southwestern were successful in downing the Hilltoppers.

As usual, the champion Panthers were mentored by Head Coach Jenks Gillem and Line Coach Lex Fullbright.

The six All-Dixie players on the Panther team were Captain Jim Ford, Alternate-Captain Vernon Cain, Curry (Babe) Jones, Woodrow Bratcher, Dick McMichaels, and Walter Riddle.

The Plainsmen from Auburn played Southern in the Capital City inaugural and, true to form, got a well-earned 19-0 victory. Coach Meagher substituted often to give his green hands game experience for the heavy schedule that the Tigers were to face, and the Panther mentors depended on fifteen workhorses to hold the forward wall. The game was by no means a runaway.

The Loyola Wolves were first of the Dixie Conference foes; the Panthers licked them 14-0 by featuring a sharp attacking Hilltop crew, including Woodrow Bratcher and Art Hanes.

The Panthers' third tilt was with Mercer. The Bears stuck in until the end but the Panthers came through, Bratcher again turning the trick when he flagged one of Dick McMichaels' aerials for the score, and then kicking the point.

Southwestern of Memphis invaded Birmingham. The star-studded Lynx struck with devastating force and ran rough shod over the Methodists in a contest that finally ended with the visitors a 26-7 winner.

In the fourth game, the Panthers amassed a 12-point lead before the Millsaps Majors counted. Southern left the field victors by a 12-7 count.

In Chattanooga the Panthers ran up a 19-12 lead that dwindled during the closing minutes of the game when the 'Noogans crashed over a marker to put them in a position to tie up the game. The attempt at conversion was blocked by Gene Looney, tackle, and the Hilltoppers had another D.C. win.

The final game of the season before the Howard encounter came with Spring Hill. From the beginning of the tilt the Panthers were hot and ended with a 38-0 victory.

Following Southwestern's victory over Birmingham-Southern, the Howard Bulldogs defeated the Memphis entry by a single point, 13-12, throwing the conference leadership into a two-way tie between the Panthers and Howard for the Dixie Conference diadem.

Who has forgotten the 2 p.m. of the 1937 Thanksgiving Day? It was all offense that afternoon, with Howard's great defense giving up 9 points more than had been scored by all four of her other conference foes.

The first touchdown came within the first five minutes of play, when Aldridge crossed the line after a 4-play drive.

The Bulldogs came back strong and furiously and scored themselves a touchdown after a 24-yard pass and a few yards gained by scrimmage. A fourth down pass put the ball in position for Howard's second score and White again shot a pass, this time to Hill. Score: Howard 14, Southern 6. On the following kick-off Charlie Vines made one of the prettiest runs of the game. Taking the ball on his own 30-yard stripe he travelled 45 yards to the Bulldog 25. Vines passed 2; McMichaels passed 14 to Aldridge. The ball was on the 2-yard line, but it took more plays before Perry and McMichaels, alternating at thrusts in the line, carried the ball over.

Final Score, Thanksgiving Day. Champions by one point.

ACTIVITY

Leading 14 to 12 as the third quarter opened, Howard took the kick-off and marched from her own 35 straight on down the field for her last score. Fortunately, Gann missed his third attempted extra point. A 20 to 12 Howard lead late in the third quarter looked like sure death for the Panther; but Center Babe Jones blocked a punt, and Howard got rough. They were penalized 15 yards to the 1, and Rufus Perry hurtled center for the third Southern touchdown. Score: Howard 20, Southern 18.

In the fourth quarter little "Chicken" Hanes came into the ball game, and played the greatest game of his career. He put new fire into the Panthers as he tore through the enemy line for repeated gains. The linemen were doing great blocking and the going was plenty tough. With fourth down coming up and 5 yards for a first down, Ford called Woodrow Bratcher into the backfield. Standing on his own 26-yard line Bratcher kicked a "long shot" but timely field goal. This three points proved to be the margin of victory with the final score being 21-20.

GRIDIRON

Heralded as one of the most courageous football teams ever to come down off the Hilltop and one with as much staying power as any, Birmingham-Southern's Dixie Conference champions boasted of a large number of all-star material who were instrumental in the Panther successes. Six of the team merited All-Dixie Conference recognition and one of that same group was awarded a place on the Little All-America selection, the first time that a Hilltopper has been granted such an honor although Ernest Teel and Hermit Davis of the 1934 club won places on the second team.

The six men who contributed in large portions play that enabled the Methodists to emerge champions of the Little Ten loop and who received All-Dixie recognition were Jim Ford, Curry (Babe) Jones, Woodrow Bratcher, Vernon Cain, Dick McMichaels, and Walter Riddle. The last named, Riddle, was the Panther receiving All-Amreica mention.

By virtue of his outstanding leadership and play during the entire campaign Captain Jim Ford was given the additional honor of captaining the mythical team. The Panther leader, recognized as one of the deadliest blockers and tacklers in the loop, shone brilliantly in all the Hilltoppers engagements and was a dependable field general. His quarterbacking in the Howard game was especially commendable, Jim keeping his plays mixed so well that the rivals were at a loss as what to expect next.

Woodrow Bratcher who saw most of the Auburn game from the bench made wonderful strides forward during the season and emerged as tops in end play throughout the conference. Woody was always a steady defensive player and a terminal man with glue-like hands that could latch on to any aerial in reach. His ability to propel long place kicks down the field when kicking off was not hampered when the distance was shorter and the necessity for accuracy greater, a fact that is shown in the five extra points he converted. Bratcher will always be remembered however for his game winning, title winning field goal against Howard in the last quarter of the game that came when the score was 20-18 in favor of the Bulldogs.

Center was a spot the Panther mentors were worried about before the season started. Babe Jones had inherited the spot but his real abilities were unknown. But after the Auburn game the coaches gave a sigh of relief when they saw that Jones could handle the job admirably. The pivotman went on to perform like a workhorse in every game and finished the season the best center in the conference. Babe was always an accurate snapper-back, an able offensive player, and a demon at backing up the Panther's six-man line.

One of the toughest little men in the conference was Alternate Captain Vernon Cain, guard, who overcame a batch of injuries to land a spot on the second team selection. Broken noses and broken jaws were the main casualties that bothered Cain but a specially devised headgear overcame those mishaps and he did not miss a game. A great team player and a man who gave his best at all times, give Cain lots of credit for the Panther's success.

ACTIVITY

Dick McMichaels started out the season as a green sophomore but every game in which he participated seem to add polish to the first year man's performance. Mac operated at tailback, equivalent to left half in the Notre Dame system, and handled most of the Panther's running and passing chores and at times he got the call to kick. The Panther soph who made the second team was also a star defensive man in the safety position.

A second spot on the All-Dixie team but a first stringer on the Little All-America selection were the honors won by Walter Riddle, 190 pound tackle. Riddle escaped the injury jinx that had pursued him in two previous seasons and came through with performances that stamped him as one of the outstanding linemen on any small college team in America.

BASKETBALL

WE ANNEX THE BIG FIVE

Climaxing a rather in-and-out season with a great show of courage and ability the Birmingham-Southern cagers triumphed over Howard in the Big Five playoff to win the handsome trophy offered by Hickman-Kearns for the championship of the basketball league. The regular schedule ended with Southern, Howard, and Y.M.H.A. tied for first place with six wins and two losses apiece. In the draw for the playoff series Southern drew a bye with Howard and the Blues meeting on the former's court in the first game. Howard spanked the Laneymen by a one-point margin to enter the finals against Southern.

The Bulldogs got away with a short lived lead during the first ten minutes of the fray that melted when the Hilltoppers got hot; latter five left the floor at intermission with a 19-18 lead. The lead seesawed during the second half with neither team holding more than a two-point advantage until the closing minutes of play when the Panthers jumped ahead by a four-point margin. Two field goals by the East Siders and one successful free throw for Southern constituted the remainder of the scoring. The final score was 34-33.

Coach Ben Englebert in presenting the trophy to Captain Kenneth Morland commented on the Panthers' lucky drawing that enabled them to reach the finals of the playoff without playing a game, and that the remainder of the task of copping the title was anything but luck. Coach Ben praised the team highly, saying: "That was the greatest show of courage and perseverance that I have ever seen. This team came back in the face of many hard-luck losses and showed that they could win the hard way."

During the season the Panthers won eight games out of a nineteen game schedule, lost two games in the Dixie Conference Tournament, and won the only game in which they participated in the Big Five playoff.

The Dixie Conference Tournament in Jackson, Miss., saw the Panthers eliminated in two games. Pitting natural rivals against each other in an effort to put the tourney over financially, Southern drew Howard and lost a close one. The defeat threw Coach Englebert's crew against the defending champions, Mississippi College, who downed the Hilltoppers and went on to again win the D.C. title.

Captain Kenneth Morland and Eldridge Mote were the mainsprings of the Panther attack during the season. The two came in one-two in the scoring column.

From the team Coach Englebert will lose four lettermen, Captain Morland, Hugh Corbin, Charlie Walton, and J. B. McClendon. Monogram winners who will return are Eldridge Mote, junior, and Dickie Morland, Sammy Pruett, and Herbert Peterson, sophomores.

Replacements will come from the '37-'38 reserves and from this year's freshman team. Next season's sophomores who might be valuable include Jimmy Cooper, Frank Dominick, Ed Neill, Peck Sands, and Bankston.

Birmingham-Southern scored a grand slam against her city collegiate rival in 1938 when she captured the annual baseball series in three straight games. The Panthers had already won the football title in a gridiron classic 21-20 and later the championship of the Big Five basket ball loop in another contest that was decided by a single point, the Panthers winning 34-33.

Woodrow Bratcher, lanky curve-ball pitcher, with a fast one to go with it, won two games from the East Siders with splendid pitching performances each time out. Bratcher won the first tilt 3-2 and the third and deciding game by a 5-3 score. John Sidney Pittman won the middle game 5-1 when he let the Howardites down on seven scattered hits.

Dick McMichaels led the hitters in the Howard series with a neat .440 average compiled in nine official times at bat. The Panther centerfielder was followed in the batting average by Jimmy Cooper, freshman first-sacker, with a .417 average and with three runs batted in. Cooper held the highest number of hits for the series with five safe bingles. James Gandy, second baseman, and Hugh Corbin, rightfielder, were others with good percentages in the hitting column, having .400 and .307 respectively. Gandy led in the RBI averages with four runs propelled across the platter. Eldridge Mote, third sacker, chimed in with hits at opportune times to also account for three runs driven in.

T R A C K

The track season saw Birmingham-Southern come through a short schedule with one match lost and one won, against Dixie Conference competition, with another defeat coming at the hands of the Auburn Tigers. Scores of the 1938 meets were Southern 72-Millsaps 59; Southern 36½-Auburn 89½, and Southern 56-Mississippi College 70.

The loss to Mississippi College was one of the few dual meets that the Panther harriers have lost to Dixie Conference competition during the last several years. Under the excellent tutelage of Coach Lex Fullbright the spiked shoe men have continued to improve until at present Southern has a very promising contingent of young track and field performers.

Trackmen who are largely responsible for the improved standing of the Panther track forces include Tom Sparks, Charles Walton, J. D. Prince, John Williamson, Vernon Cain, Henry Stevenson, Joe Petrite, Dickie Morland, Harry Burns, Fred Spence, Gus Noojin, Dick McMichaels, Leland Gray, Freeman Clark, Erante Korina, Theoron Montgomery, Winifred McCartney, William Stevens, A. L. Dodd, Sammy Pruett, Tom Thompson, "Molly" Swindle, and Bill Richardson.

The boy who paced the Panther harriers throughout the season was lanky Tom Sparks. Sparks ran the 100, 220, 120 high hurdles, and 220 low sticks, was always good for points in each of his specialties, and it was no unusual feat for the speedster to score a grand slam by coming in with four firsts in one afternoon. Sparks compiled a grand average in the three years in which he has not been defeated in the 220 low hurdles.

OTHER SPORTS

TENNIS

Birmingham-Southern is rapidly becoming a haven for top-notch tennis players. For the past few years really good netmen from the local high schools have enrolled at the Hilltop and they are the kind of boys who like to play tennis in match competition. One move that will tend to draw even more material here is to start a strong intercollegiate set of matches with teams throughout the South.

The 1937 tennis squad, under the tutelage of Coach Leon Sensabaugh, played two local matches and showed to the best advantage imaginable. In fact the University of Chattanooga and Mississippi College were met in duels in the Magic City and the best these two opponents could do was to salvage one match between them. And none of the Panther racquet weilders performing in those matches had reached the status of juniors, thus showing that they would be back for at least two years more tennis play. The Moccasin outfit was the team to win that lone match, Southern beat them 6-1 and then cleaned up the Choctaw netmen, whitewashing them 7-0.

Brooks Shirley, Frank Osment, Rollin Osgood, Charles Baader, and Hal Childers composed the personnel of the 1937 team. Of this list only Osgood and Baader were absent from the campus when plans for the 1938 squad began to take form.

In the manner of previewing the 1938 tennis team a campus tournament was staged to decide the varsity team. With Coach Sensabaugh again in charge, the tourney attracted more attention and drew more entrants than have any of the previous meets. Several new names were entered that were well known to tennis fans throughout the state by virtue of these new hopefuls having been prominent in local tennis circles. Among these new faces were Herbert Downs, Ed Neill, Horace Stevenson, "Lefty" Rollins, Rainwater, and Wrona. The annual deadline caught your chronicler before the tourney was completed but we'd wager that a representative team was rounded up and that more matches were arranged for the Panther racquet weilders. For the actual results we refer you to the sports section of next year's LaRevue.

GOLF

Golfing interests at Birmingham-Southern were at a new low for the beginning of the 1938 team, after the loss of three members of the previous squad. Panther hopefuls however were banking on the addition of new material to more than compensate for the loss of the trio of absent linksters.

Dick Westbrook, Harry Burns, Wilfred "Speed" Reynolds, Hugh Nabors, and Houston Brice made up the '37 links team. The missing members of that squad are Westbrook who has gone the way of all good students, and Hugh Nabors and Houston Brice who have matriculated at other colleges.

Thus the personnel of this spring's club was chosen from Burns, Reynolds, Abner Johnson, Frank Dominick, Billy Powers, Paxton Coleman and Ben Ray, newcomers who will step into the shoes of the outgoing veterans.

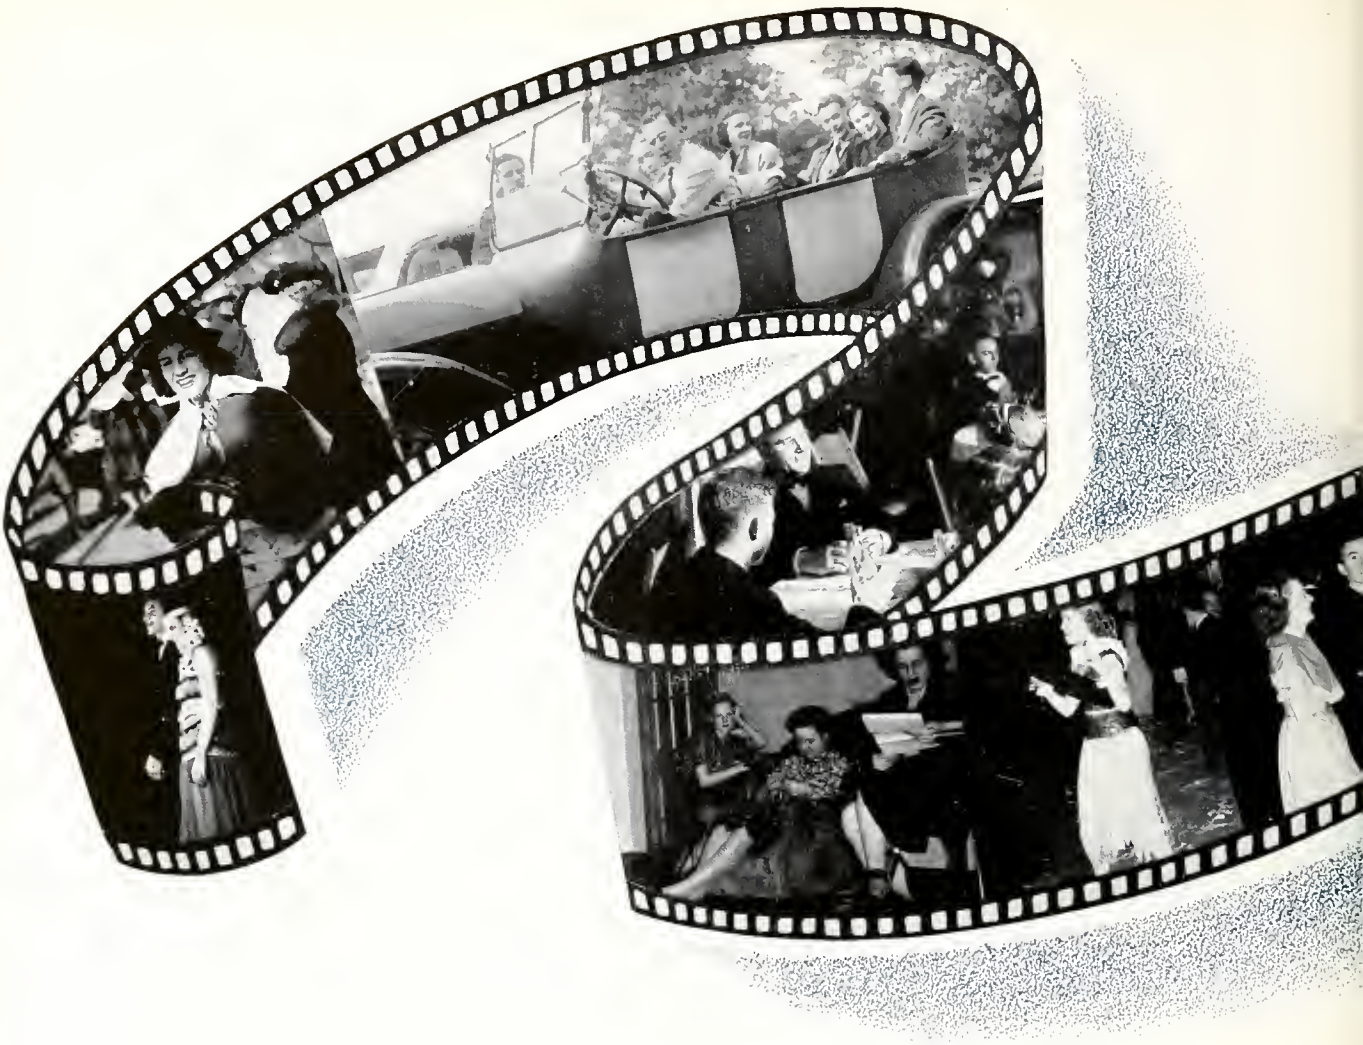

Last year's team found opposition from the ranks of the Birmingham Country Club, Ramsay Technical High School, Georgia Tech, and the Ensley Business Men's Club. The competition offered by these outfits was rather stern, the Hilltop linksmen being able to salvage only the Ramsay match from the quartet of tries. In the Georgia Tech meet the Panthers also gave a good account of themselves before taking the count from the Yellow Jackets.

An incomplete schedule for the 1938 links team lists matches with the University of Alabama, Auburn, Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Georgia Tech, the Birmingham Country Club, Ramsay High School and the Ensley Business Men's Club. Although some of the best golf material on the campus is gone there was still reason for optimism among Gold and Black followers for a strong squad in '38.

In ☆ MEMORIAM

During the year, Henry Montgomery, veteran trainer and friend of every football man passed away. Henry carried with him a little of the heart of every student, since all knew him and loved him. No athletic team of any kind ever had a more loyal defender. Henry was always there. . . . Remember the day that he was given a gigantic cigar in chapel? . . . Henry and his cigars . . . He has gone . . . But in the tradition of Birmingham-Southern, Henry is here forever.

INTERFRATERN

The Interfraternity Council is the seat of all clique troubles. It is also the producer of Hilltop script dances. Members of the Council enjoy giving these script dances because sometimes they rake in the mon, and because they can have a lead-out to take their second-best girls in. If they have second-best girls. The purpose of the Council is to make for better relations among the fraternities. The Council hobby, however, is to decide who to run for what. The members divide out all school offices among the frats, and if anyone is left without an office, they make him Council president. Nice set-up. But the Council members can't always make their respective fraternities agree to the portioning.

The ATO's were one up on the other Greeks when it came to a house this year. Their's was no farther away, and was one of the largest off the campus. ATO campus history has been long and varied. One of the oldest frats on the Hill, it went through a slump that it is still trying to climb out of. At first the trying looked hopeless. But this year, after pledging a conglomerate bunch of men, and with strong seniors, ATO is well on the way to reclaiming its snug position with the big four. The frat lost out in politics last spring, but came through impressively enough this year with two members of ODK, two Student Senators, and men in honoraries on the campus. And they made the dirt column as often as any other fraternity. Eureka!

The Hilltop chapter of Beta Kappa has stepped right along this year, opening the formal season with a little rhythmic huge appling. The boys were able to grab a nice hunk of publicity when they entertained the BK Southern Province convention.

Since Punk Fotographer Orville Lawson left, the boys have done remarkably well in pledging and house-getting. They have a new house which, according to the new "away from it all" trend, is a half-mile from the campus. Publicity-getting seems to be the chief indoor-sport of the BKs, but romance has flourished—especially with the president. It's rumored that the BKs were left out of the frat clique last election, but then they haven't been in it for several ballot shufflings. Perhaps they will become as independent as Delta chapter of Non-Fraternity Council.

All in all, the Beta Kappas have shown up well, and will close out a good year with prospects for an even better one.

Delta Sigma Phi is the Hilltop's youngest fraternity. A few years ago it almost went under—only four active members, men who made straight As. Since then its progress has been extraordinary and the chapter has been built up to be one of the largest on the Hill.

The chapter is the only frat on the Hilltop to have a flat in Student Act. instead of a house out in the country. But rumors are that they will expand into a house by next fall. One of their great charms is their telephone. The only trouble is that members sometimes use it when visitors would like to. Most annoying.

This year saw the Delta Sigs well on their way with men in Student Senate, ODK, and the honoraries; one Field Goal and the Intra-Mural Basketball Cup by way of exercises; and one of the year's better formals.

Though Kappa Alpha has been one of the "Big Four" as far back as most of us can remember, it didn't reach its all-time high until two years ago. At that time it was crammed with Big-Men-On-Campus. That is always nice, but when they graduate, it causes an AWFUL gap. At least it did for the KAs.

After brilliant returns from rush season last year, it was something of a let-down, and a surprise, to the KAs when they had a little harder time this fall. As did the other Greeks, the KAs lost out on major politics. But with Kenneth Morland as president of ODK and Y., and captain of the basketball team, and with one membership in Student Senate, the basketball managership, and places in the honoraries, Kappa Alpha kept its high standing on the campus.

The Pi Kappa Alpha boys splurged this year and went so far as to give a gala dance for the other PiKAs in the state. The chapter swung into shape early, and copped a goodly number of pledges to further its glory. There is a house, but alas, it must be admitted that with most of the other Greeks on the Hilltop, the PiKAs have some distance to trudge between campus and frat house. So prominent has this withdrawal of the Greeks been that it resembles a "back to the country" movement.

The dear brothers worked themselves up several impressive sweats in intra-mural sports. But big honors came to the chapter when PiKA Walter Riddle woke up one morning and found himself a Little All-American Tackle. Dr. Tower takes a fatherly interest in the boys, but since they received a big autographed picture of the PiKA dream girl, Dr. Tower finds that the fellows' professors claim that all they do is dream in classes.

This year SAE was, as usual, the largest chapter on the campus and, not as usual, fortunate in politics. For the first time in several years, they held two major offices: student body president and manager of The Gold and Black. They seemed to like the change. But took quite for granted their usual share of other honors. After suffering from a flurry of competition from other Greeks, which annoyed the good SAE brethren, they went confidently on to pledge their usual wholesale batch of Big-Men-On-Campus potentialities. But they, along with the rest of the campus, are not quite sure how long they can keep their perch.

The SAEs are the only Greeks to own a chapter house, and they are probably sorry. But they have the advantage of being near the campus—which advantage is becoming a rarity among the frats. This year in addition to being SAE, the chapter had the distinction of holding top rank in scholarship.

Alabama Beta of Theta Kappa Nu was established on the Hilltop in 1924 and since then has been right up towards the front in the frat line-up. The Theta Nu's at present spend most of the time boasting that they have the best house on the Hill as well as the most convenient. In the fall, Theta Kappa Nu Max Johnson parade managed Southern to a parade victory over Howard. Several of the brethren have become airminded and camera conscious during the year in addition to their Glee Club monopolizing. They stuck their fingers in politics and pulled out two Senate posts, and are running into the second straight year as holder of Interfrat Council presidency. Already active in the band and publications, the Theta Nu's are looking forward to the '38 football season now that a brother is to captain the gridsters. The TKNs, one of the youngest Greek bunches on the campus, have come along steadily and have pledges that will take care of the chapter's future welfare.

Southern's Pan-Hellenic Council is noted throughout the country for out-doing the French on the matter of red-tape. Each year the members bring forth a monumental collection of Rush Rules which, they think, are complete. But invariably somebody finds a way to get around one of the unbreakable laws, and there is an explosion in Stockham. There are feminine shrieks of rage. Fur flies. All of which usually means that somebodies are mad because some other bodies beat them to the draw. Members of Pan-Hellenic Council can always be spotted because they look at other members of Pan-Hellenic Council with expressions of mingled hatred and admiration. And because no one except the members of Pan-Hellenic Council gives a darn.

AOPi was the second sorority to come to Southern, establishing the chapter in 1925. In the first ten years, the chapter fluctuated greatly from high to low. But since 1934, it has risen steadily until this year it came out as a highly respected group on the campus. AOPis held major offices on Coed Council and in Mortar Board, beside being outstanding in Paint and Patches and Belles Lettres. Of course with all the other Greeks on the Hill, the AOPis pledged freshmen that they weren't quite sure what to do with, which gave them an Old-Woman-Who-Lived-In-The-Shoe look. The annual Rose Ball is always among the first dances of the season as well as one of the best.

Because Pi Beta Phi is the oldest national woman's fraternity, founded in 1867, and because it has the largest national membership, the local chapter is constantly having to explain to its Grand Council just why it has competition from other chapters at Southern. Despite a change of horses in midstream, and despite constant loss through marriage, the Pi Phis this year managed to hang on to the scholarship cup, redecorate the chapter room, win offices on the Coed Council, and acquire a collection of freshmen which cause the actives to wear a perpetual "This-Younger-Generation" expression. Pi Phis are prominent on the publications staffs, Belles Lettres, and Glee Club, and have two members in Mortar Board. Catherine Sims and Mildred Blair did well as President and Vice-President for the second semester.

For a good many years, Alpha Chi has been hard to pigeon-hole among the other sororities on the campus. Usually its chapter is large. The chapter room is one of the best in Stockham—they have a piano. They even have space for a piano. They always have one or two Big-Women-on-Campus, but the members keep to themselves. This year they held the presidency of Paint and Patches, and Amazons, and membership on Coed Council. Alpha Chi coming up!

Gamma Phi has one of the strongest nationals of any chapter on our campus. It has had a mild career at Southern—never dropping too low in number, never having a flashily good chapter. In the past two years, Gamma Phi has quietly pledged a good girl here and there at odd times until it has built up a strong chapter. The members are strong in Glee Club and the honoraries, had two members of Mortar Board, and held the presidency of Coed Council.

The KDs have risen suddenly. Three years ago they had four active members and were just hanging on to their charter. Today, if it can be judged by popular beauty votes and frat lead-outs, KD is the Hilltop's prettiest and most popular sorority. Which makes other chapters loose their claws. Naturally, in the three years, KD has had growing pains, and some of its brilliance might be called superficial. Its members have not been prominent in any campus activities, other than social, and have done little scholastically and, consequently, in the honoraries. However, they succeed, for the most part, in being charming and likeable. And don't think other chapters wouldn't like to be as ornamental if they could.

Theta Upsilon has not received the recognition on campus that it deserves, but this year, under the leadership of an able president, it came more to the front. The chapter held the presidency of Pan-Hellenic Council and Mu Alpha, gave the first spring informal—which was, by the way, one of the year's best dances—held their own in the honoraries, and placed two members on Coed Council.

ZTA was the first sorority on Birmingham-Southern campus, established in 1922. With the entrance of other chapters, Zeta had its ups and downs but for some reason has always had a large supply of beauties. The past year was not successful if judged by number, but the chapter was still strong in quietly well-known upper-classmen and attractive pledges. ZTA is strong in scholarship among the sororities, and disports itself in political waters by having members elected to Coed Council. In spite of their reputation for over-clannishness, the Zetas are fairly active in campus affairs.

Amazon Club will long be ce'ebrated on the Hilltop as the best of dance-givers. Strangely enough the sorority girls, three from each chapter, really get along without hair-pulling. Maybe that is because Amazons never meet except to discuss their annual dance and to initiate new members. Pledges have to wear white cotton stockings with black hair ribbons at winter initiation, and black cotton stockings with white hair ribbons in summer. But in spite of the seeming triviality of the organization, the Amazon Club is probably the most likeable one on the campus. It is remote from all things political. It is humorous. And it gives the year's best dance.

Contrary to custom on other campi, the already overworked members of ODK at Southern are extremely active. Perhaps this comes from the inspiration of having had the National President of Omicron Delta Kappa, Dr. Guy E. Snavely, as a member of the chapter. Though handicapped by the restrictive "major" system of choosing new members, this year ODK tapped men who met the approval of the student body. For two seasons it has put on a series of winter concerts, "Twilight Musicals." The programs, featuring the outstanding musicians of Birmingham, were successful in bringing citizens to the Hilltop who might otherwise never have seen our college. At Christmas, ODK lights a star and Christmas tree on the campus, and this year they sponsored the special edition of the Gold and Black on Dr. Snavely's birthday. Probably their greatest achievement of the year was pronounced by President Kenneth Morland when he said, "We feel that in choosing these men politics have been eliminated—to a high degree."

Mortar Board, senior honorary for women, replaced the local chapter of Scroll in 1935. Founded in 1918 at Syracuse, New York, Mortar Board seeks to honor scholarship and leadership, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship, and to stimulate love of college. Mortar Board taps only once a year, a whole chapter at a time, and those tapped are active for one year. There is no overlapping. Therefore it always takes the incoming chapters a week or two to catch on. This year the chapter lost two members befnre mid-term which made the organization even smaller than usual. But Mortar Board members, though already busier than most, found time to serve at the ODK receptions, hostess a junior luncheon, take part in Alpha Lambda Delta tapping ceremony, give one rummage sale several times (they used the same rummage over again), and give their usual series of vocational guidance conferences.

Pi Gamma Mu is notorious for its good chapel programs and its enjoyment of its own good parties. Probably no other honorary on the campus enjoys itself as much as Pi Gamma Mu does. Its initiations are rowdy and hilarious. Its parties are well-fed, juvenile, and fun. Its chapel programs have been prize-winners every year—who will ever forget the Duke of Windsor—Wally Simpson demonstration? All in all, everybody approves of Pi Gamma Mu. It is really honorary. It takes its members from those who have a high scholastic rating and has merrily promoted a better liking for all things socially scientific.

Phi Sigma Iota is surrounded by a faint aura of culture. Its members actually enjoy good music, good literature, and good humor. The Birmingham-Southern chapter was established in 1931. Since that time it has quietly become one of the Hilltop's most respected honoraries, one which has held the interest of all its members, both active and alumni, and has done much to bring about a better appreciation of the romance languages.

Since its establishment at Birmingham-Southern in 1933, Alpha Lambda Delta has become one of the Hilltop's most worthwhile organizations. Because of its high scholastic requirements and narrow limits, the group is necessarily small. Its purpose is to do honor to freshman women. Though one of the college's youngest honoraries, Alpha Lambda Delta has made a place for itself by giving an annual tea for incoming freshman women, promoting an interest in scholarship, and by maintaining a traditional tapping ceremony.

The Southern chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa was established in 1925 to bring together outstanding men interested in education. During the first part of this year, it looked to impartial observers as though Kappa chapter was coasting along on last year's momentum—of which it had plenty. But after a slow start, Kappa Phi Kappa finished up the year with its wonted enthusiasm, tapping a superior group of men, being active during AEA, and having a fearfully formal initiation. The only peculiar thing about Kappa Phi Kappa is that one does not have to take a course in education to become a member.

Kappa Delta Epsilon, sister chapter to Kappa Phi Kappa, replaced the local Sigma Sigma Kappa in 1934. Its purpose is to bring about greater appreciation of the ideals of the teaching profession. The year has flowed smoothly for KDE in spite of the change of presidents at mid-year. Perhaps too smoothly. But AEA week, and the accompanying luncheon, kept KDE busy enough to last a semester.

Beta Beta Beta, contrary to popular belief among students that it was founded to give stutterers good practice, is really Southern's biological fraternity. It's pretty old, having been established here in 1928. But it hasn't outlived its usefulness, and still gives friendly instruction to a lot of novices who pry into the habits of the lowly amoeba. It also gives interesting parties.

Despite the pre-medical names listed on the roll book, Skull and Bones is not as ghastly as it sounds. The purpose of the thing is to be honorary to its members—originally. But from the general atmosphere of Science Building (not counting cats, formaldehyde, etc.) the casual observer would think that Skull and Boners enjoy being honored, love their pre-medical existence, and have one swell time being Skull and Boners.

Tau Kappa Alpha has debates. Also it is the SAE stepping stone to ODK and has been for the past four years. For the first years after its establishment on the campus, Tau Kappa Alpha was small and strictly masculine. More recently, the chapter has grown and two girls have been admitted as active members. Tau Kappa Alpha has brought superior debates to the campus, one from as far away as the University of Hawaii, debates which were not supported as they should have been by the students. Gradually the fraternity is accomplishing its purpose of giving forensics their rightful place on the campus by popularizing debate.

Theta Chi Delta honors those who have struggled long and well in chemistry. Anyone who has done that deserves to be honored. And, for obvious reasons, Theta Chi Delta is smallish. The Theta Chi Delta fingers are stained with LQ31Zero, and the Theta Chi Delta conversation is sprinkled with precipitates and distillates. But it is a merry honorary, just as the rest are which have science students for members.

Pi Delta Psi is honorary and psychological. A young organization, it is still impressed with the importance of its own dignity. This year Pi Delta Psi was suprised at how well it got along without its fatherly sponsor, and it still feels that there is something rather piquant about psychology and complexes and Freud. Still, Pi Delta Psi has goodly members, and programs which those members can enjoy.

Theta Sigma Lambda is a math honorary. The policy of the organization is: to be as honorary as possible by honoring as many as possible. One good part about this plan is that more initiation fees are collected and also more choice people are gotten together. All of which makes meetings and parties more interesting. Theta Sigma Lambda is lucky to have Dr. Glenn as one of its members. They think so too.

Y. M. C. A. C

The Y. Cabinet is the governing body of the Y.M.C.A. At least that is the idea of the organization. There are rumors, however, that the point about getting elected to Y. Cabinet is that its members often get sent to conferences at the expense of the Y. And of course the reason for going to conferences is to have a good time—at the expense of the Y. Still, the members of the Y. Cabinet do all the work that's done. So maybe that is quite fair. Freshman Commission, obviously, is the training ground for future Y. Cabineters.

The Y.W.C.A. Cabinet is the powerhouse of those masses which are the Y.W. The Cabinet is larger than the corresponding one of the Y.M. for some reason, seems to be more compact. Perhaps this is because of the Y. room in Stockham and weekly lunches therein. Y. big wigs spend much vacation and holiday time at Blue Ridge and points conferential. In winter they plan the schedule of the Y.W.C.A.

Clariosophic was founded back in the dark ages at Old Southern University. It was one of the strongest clubs on the campus then, and carried on a bitter feud with Belles Lettres. Now Clario is more active—though not more literary—(not that BL is overly literary)—than its rival, giving chummy parties, initiations, and things. Its members are of the quiet type, but its officers are sprightly enough to do double duty.

Le Cercle Francais is one of those large, loosely built organizations that manages to have good programs and many members. Of course most of the members are feminine with the annual exceptions of the faculty members and exchange students. This year the club took on a slightly more masculine atmosphere and an enthusiastic bunch of officers. Its initiation picnics are more fun than such parties usually are. Le Cercle Francais achieves its purpose of making the French language more attractive to its students, and of bringing about a better understanding of the French people.

International Relations is the club on the Hilltop that makes living with the exchange students easier. It was established at Southern in 1930, enjoyed a boom year in '36, suffered a slight depression last year, but is going great guns (no disarmament) again now. For a while IRs spectacular lecturers—remember Haile Selassie's little friend?—attracted a large flock of transients, but this year, the club has settled in its tracks and is facing in the general direction of Belles Lettres, Clario, et al.

Sigma Epsilon is the "Writers' Club." The members keep their talents hidden for the most part and never tell anyone what goes on in meetings. And Southern's publications are deprived of their creativeness. A few are not so choosy and do their writing around on the campus as well as just in club meeting. Sigma Epsilon has a fine array of officers and members. The only grudge against the club is its reclusiveness.

The Ministerial Association, as its name implies, is the association for ministerial students. Sponsored by the saintly Dr. Smith and the scholarly Dr. Matthews, the organization shows the budding young theologians the way they should go—and tries to keep them there. Also it gives good picnics. Despite the slurs of the PiGMu trial, the association is made up fine upstanding young men. But boys will be boys. Even in Ministerial Associations.

Alpha Gamma started a few years back without much of a bang. The idea was to have a sports-hobby group on the campus. For a while, nothing happened. And then, gradually, lots of things did. No one seems to know exactly why, but Alpha Gamma has been clicking for the past two years. Under Miss Helen Turner's friendly eye, the club should boom.

SEPTEMBER

School opened, amazingly enough. It really did. The first issue of the Gold and Black flung a blaring yellow Phi Beta Kappa key in the faces of the already-suspecting-such students. That meant that there was a chapter on the campus and that some of the June graduates had been taken into membership. Prophecies of the Auburn-Southern game were pitiful in their hope. La Revue was yapping about its class pictures to be taken and making un-subtle hints that people come over and have their mugs snapped.

OCTOBER

The first issue of Campus Newsreel made its appearance and the hot-shots got a little touch of deflated ego from seeing themselves in action. Senate and Coed Council posts were filled though nobody paid much attention to the election except the candidates. A Birmingham-Southern band began to grow under the persuasion of Max Johnson; the Mercer game came and went; the Pi Phis planned and more-or-less carried out a Beauty Contest for their milk-fund. The Southwestern game sported the first performance of the Pep Squad, after which said pep squad became known as "Pantherettes." Dr. Snavely's birthday brought forth a special edition of the Gold and Black, sponsored by O.D.K.

Ousler's Sandwiches

Dr. Hubert Searcy was offered the presidency of Huntingdon College, Millsap was beaten by us, and Shep Fields played at a dance which the Interfraternity Council tried to pretend was theirs.

NOVEMBER

November entered with Dr. Searcy's accepting the Huntingdon offer and a quick juggling of classes by other history professors. Pantherettes and band went to Chattanooga for the football game which gave them a University-of-Alabama-ish feeling. Mortar Board's national president paid a visit and suggested that the chapter might give a script dance to make money. Ha! Jean Wagner of Bitche, France, and Federico Amador of Cuba, spoke at the International Relations Club. Very international. Parade plans and Margaret Cecil Gaines' election as Miss Birmingham-

Southern started the campus to thinking about the Howard-Southern game early. Paint and Patches started its radio dramas. Woodrow Bratcher kicked a field goal. And there was Thanksgiving.

DECEMBER

The Beta Kappa dance opened the formal season. See what they started. And another newsreel came along. The cameraman was learning how. Also campus big-wigs were catching on—how to walk into the camera without appearing to. The Gold and Black made first mention of its drive for campus improvements. It proposed a lounge in Student Ac, a comfortable reading room in the library, and a spiral staircase to the roof of Munger. Some people thought it was a joke—then. Lady Windemere's Fan was the first Paint and Patches effort at the Little Theatre. and Dr. Snavely's resignation was final and definite. Southern's quartet gave a radio broadcast which threatened to become a series. But didn't quite. The Big Apple was monopolizing every party given. The first Glee Club concert of the year turned out to be the best one Southern had ever attended. And there was a snow. Which gave coeds a chance to sport jodpurs, jodphurs, johhdpers, — riding pants. Also broken legs. The AOPi Rose Ball and Delta Sig formal were the big dances of the month. The question of who was to be the new president had everyone gasping for about three weeks. Wallith Winthell made his first murky contribution to the Gold and Black.

JANUARY

voted on twenty beauties and fifteen favorites. And at the reception afterward, the newsreel staff took color pictures of the beautiful ones. A chapel poll showed that the majority of students wanted an educator for the new college president and would not go abroad to fight. Though lots wondered what the connection was between the two. Then of course, there was basketball to make life brighter. Finals and new registration kept people muttering about hours and free periods. Professor Howard Leake joined the faculty. And Bursar Yeilding, with forethought, got an estimate on how much the furnishing of the student activities room would cost. The Gold and Black took over the job of sandwiching a monthly Hilltop Alumnus in with its regular schedule. And, once a month, it began mailing 3,000 Gold and Blacks all over the world, to China, Peru, Brazil, and Honolulu — every continent but Australia. And still the frenzied search for a president. Which then, suddenly, died out.

FEBRUARY

February brought Kirby Page. Also the sale of Kirby Page's books. And the KD dance. And the Amazon hop. Which was one of the best ever given. This time the dates actually caught on and there was a gorgeous array of velvet evening wraps over tuxedoes and veils and feathers over white ties.

MARCH

With March, the Student Ac. room gained ground. James Saxon Childers lectured on "Queer Things in Queer Countries" and the sponsors raked in lucre. Untermyer. Deep silence. Another student poll showed that Southern students are not radical in their ideas of life. The May Court was elected. (Yes, in March.) PiKa and KA dances came close together. The Gold and Black had its face lifted on the March 11 issue and went modern—definitely. The Swing Show was planned to make money for the room. (That was as good an excuse as any.) Genius Limited was chosen for the next Paint and Patches production. Founders' Day celebrated Southern's 83rd birthday. And, star occasion of the month, Fred Waring gave the Hilltop glee club a stiff rehearsal and work-out—over the radio. Dr. William E. Dodd visited the campus and thereby put the college on the local front pages. There were hitches in the Genius Limited schedule that threatened to become permanent pauses. The newsreel distinguished itself by showing film at the end of its show which had been taken at the beginning. The SAE dance and Helen Hayes as a beauty judge came on the same night.

APRIL

And with April, the April Fool edition of the Gold and Black, a charming sketch of Editor Kruskopf in linoleum. Genius Limited, to its own surprise, was finally produced. The Theta U's had the first informal of the year at which everyone had a remarkably good time. Election rumblings. And what rumblings. Practically a blow-up. But fun. All sorts of clique splits. And then it was all over and no one cared. Stunt Night and the Theta Kappa Nus still on top—but only by a little bit. The Delta Sigs chased them too close for comfort. Mortar Board sponsored its annual career conference. And the Pi Phi dance flashed its Neon arrow.

MAY

Everyone getting an Old Lang Syne feeling. May Day. Beautiful queen. Lovely maids. Properly dignified king. Balloons. Scarfs. Etc. Phi Beta Kapp tapping. Election of valedictorian, salutatorian. Baseball. We beat Howard. And the year nearing its end.

AN UNBALANCED MEAL

A woodpecker lit on a Freshman's head
And settled down to drill
He bored away for half an hour
And then he broke his bill.
And then he lit on a Sophomore's head,
And drilled at a nifty pace
Till suddenly something happened;
He found a hollow place.

Mrs. Hargett (To her son when he had returned from school):

"Did you meet any highway robbers while you were in Birmingham, son?"

Oscar: "Yes'm. I took Mary Finch out to dinner one day."

John Williamson: "Why are you wearing two different kinds of perfume, Mary?"

Mary Murphy: "Oh, I feel like two cents."

Come and Revel in Great Shows . . . Properly Presented!

Two weeks until graduation. Senior invitations coming in. Exam exemptions posted in the office. Final "Paper for Childers" writing. Chemistry experiments brought up to date. The year's last dance. The year's last class. The election of officers for Fall in all the too-many organizations. Last minute flurry to use up all chapel cuts. House-parties on week-ends. Sunburn.

It seems so long ago that the Newsreel camerman first started whirring his camera at suspecting students. That the Pantherettes snake-danced across the campus. The Thanksgiving drizzle of the Southern-Howard game is almost forgotten.

And now, one last excitement in the atmosphere of finality—the new president. Mr. Raymond Ross Paty will come to Southern to be its leader. His telegram to the Gold and Black had a friendly sound. He's young. He's had the business, teaching, and executive experience that anyone could want. We've never seen him. But we want to.

Underclassmen can be glad that they will be back next year. For them there will be more campus elections, more frat dances, more exams. The seniors have a slightly lost feeling. They will not know Mr. Paty as the other students will. They'll be out digging for a job. But occasionally they can come back. They can walk across the campus and have acquaintances greet them casually, friends who have been too busy with college to miss graduates. Sad.
